A FALSE PROPHECY.

He Deludes a Crowd of Negroes, Who, on Learning the Truth, Beat Him Fatally.

Chicago, May 25.—A dispatch from Atlanta, Ga., says a few weeks ago a man of mysterious manner and appearance located in Green county. He called himself "Abdullah" or "Holey One," claimed to possess a divine nature, and said he had received instructions by divine revelation to free the negroes of Georgia from the bondage of a false religion. He gained the confidence of the colored people and deluded them into believing he was their colored savior. He had many followers, hundreds coming from the adjoining counties and villages to listen to his strange doctrines. He held services in fields and groves and adorned himself on these occasions with gaudy turbans and flowing robes. He had beads and ornaments that he sold readily as charms against the power of Satan, and in this way was reaping a financial harvest. He was regarded by the white people as a harmless crank, and little attention was given him, until it was discovered that he was a thief and an impostor. The stranger secretly informed the negroes that they were to be free, and that he had been recently discovered. It was, he said, a place prepared for negroes, where they had neither to work nor starve—a paradise that was to be the home of all those who followed him. He bade them to steal or to sell all they had, and put their money into his keeping, and on a certain night they would meet together and start on their journey. A dozen families sold their cabins, crops, mules and all they possessed, and put the money in the hands of "Abdullah." The swindler appointed the place for meeting at an isolated spot, and the time for starting on the journey was two nights ago, when a band of about forty men, women and children congregated and waited in vain for the coming of "Abdullah." In the meantime it was ascertained that the "Holey One" was a thief and an impostor. When the pilgrims realized that they had been deceived and robbed, they pursued "Abdullah," caught him, hanged him to a tree, and the exasperated mob lashed his nude body with birch rods until they believed him dead, when they left him. He was found some time later by white people and cared for, but cannot recover. He is a white man, but had stained his face and hands so as to pass for a negro.

Old Couple and Two Children Murdered.

VIRGO, Wis., May 25.—Reuben Drake, his wife and two grandchildren were murdered last night in Mr. Drake's residence, about four miles from the village of Heidtown. No clues have been obtained as to the perpetrators of the deed. The house was ransacked and the furniture overturned, showing that the murderers had searched for money and valuables. This morning a neighbor had occasion to go to Mr. Drake's house on an errand, and upon entering the door a fearful sight was presented. Drake and his wife lay near each other on the floor, weltering in great pools of blood, which flowed from gaping gunshot wounds in their heads. On a bed in an adjoining room lay the little children, both under seven years of age, with their throats cut from ear to ear. One of the children was still alive when found, but died a few minutes afterward. Mr. and Mrs. Drake were over sixty years of age. Mr. Drake was a highly respected farmer, and no other cause than robbery can be assigned for the deed.

Held for Vagrancy.

MARSHALL, Mo., May 25.—Jacob Boatright, colored, was sold at public auction to-day for a term of six months for $5.00. He had been convicted of vagrancy.

WHEN INDICATIONS.

SATURDAY—Warmer, fair weather, preceded by local rains.

Coming:

Lawn tennis. Just now, like spring, it seems to be lingering in the lap of winter. But only seems. "Seems, madam!" said Hamlet, "I know not seems." He meant, perhaps, that he wore knit goods exclusively. It would have driven away his melancholy if he could have seen our Lawn Tennis Suits.

Coat, pants and cap. An elegant line. See the show-window. Get you an outfit.

If you don't play tennis you can get your picture taken in it and present it to your friends, so they'll think you go in for athletics. If not for this reason then get an outfit because it is cheap—worth double anybody's money.

MISS WITTENBERG'S SLATER.

Capture of One of the Men Who Escaped with Chamberlain—The Pursuit Growing Hot.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

MONTICELLO, May 25.—Chamberlain, the murderer of Ida Wittenberg, and Catterton, one of the tramps who escaped jail after assaulting the sheriff, last night, are still at large. Hundreds of citizens are scouring the country in all directions searching for them, and it is reported that the searchers are close upon the trail, and will probably bag their game to-night. Benson, the younger of the tramps, was brought in at noon and has given valuable information as to the direction taken by the two yet at large. Should they be captured it is not probable that they will be released, although it would have been probably different last night. The sheriff has one arm broken and his skull is fractured. The Board of Commissioners have offered $800 reward for the capture of Chamberlain and $200 for Catterton.

Chamberlain's crime was peculiarly shocking. He was in love with a beautiful and attractive young lady named Ida Wittenberg, a daughter of a wealthy and highly respected family living at Reynolds, in White county. He claims that Miss Wittenberg had promised to marry him, but afterwards, tired of him, had accepted the attentions of another suitor. On the night of the murder Miss Wittenberg had been to church, in company with the favored suitor. Chamberlain placed himself in ambush near her home, and waited for her return. Her escort was at the gate, and she proceeded to a door at the rear of the house to gain admission. Here she was attacked by Chamberlain, who attempted to overpower her, but she resisted him successfully at first. She then seized a revolver and fired. The girl fell to the ground helpless, but the report of the revolver and her cries for help had reached the ears of her escort, who rushed to the scene. Chamberlain was under heavy guard. After the death of his victim he was placed in jail, and for safe keeping was taken first to Delphi, and then Lafayette. He was returned to Monticello two weeks ago, trial, which was postponed to the September term.

The Rockville Battery at Nashville. Nashville, Tenn., May 25.—The crowd that gathered at Eastside Park this morning was the largest ever seen in the grounds. It was estimated that from 15,000 to 20,000 attended, the sham-battle being, of course, the attraction of the day. The day was very favorable. The programme opened with a drill by the Rockville, Ind., Battery, organized in 1883, and having a few sturdy soldiers in formation. Their work was excellent. They drilled with precision, and their movements were perfect. The Southern Cadets, of Macon, Ga., came next. This was their first appearance in a competitive contest. They put up a magnificent drill and were cheered again and again. The famous Merchant Zouaves, of Memphis, exhibited great proficiency in their movements, and only a few points will separate them and the Lincoln Zouaves. When they left the grounds, the opinion was general that they stood a good chance of winning first prize. The next actants for honors of the drill were Battery A, Louisiana Artillery. Coming after the Rockville was a band of music, and the Rockville was the last to perform. The crowd was very large, and the time for starting on the journey was two nights ago, when a band of about forty men, women and children congregated and waited in vain for the coming of "Abdullah." In the meantime it was ascertained that the "Holey One" was a thief and an impostor. When the pilgrims realized that they had been deceived and robbed, they pursued "Abdullah," caught him, hanged him to a tree, and the exasperated mob lashed his nude body with birch rods until they believed him dead, when they left him. He was found some time later by white people and cared for, but cannot recover. He is a white man, but had stained his face and hands so as to pass for a negro.

A Crown for Jeff Davis.

JACKSON, Miss., May 25.—More than six thousand persons witnessed the ceremonies connected with the laying of the cornerstone of the confederate monument here. At 11 o'clock the procession, headed by carriages containing distinguished visitors and State officers, moved from City Hall and paraded through several of the principal streets. Jefferson Davis did not attend owing to bad health. Eight military companies, a number of benevolent associations, and a large Masonic representation were in line. Arriving at the site, Capt. J. W. Davis, Miss Winnie Davis was conducted to the library chamber and formally introduced to the large crowd by Governor Lowry. The ceremonies at that point followed, and were opened by the reading of a letter from Mr. Davis explaining his absence. Col. Charles E. Hooker gave the oration, and at the close presented Miss Davis with a silver crown, to be given by her to her father. The crown is the gift of three Mississippi gentlemen. His presentation was unexpected, not having been announced in the programme. The laying of the cornerstone with Masonic ceremonies closed the exercises of the day. This evening a grand military parade was held at the fair grounds by the national guards.

Sam Jones Outdone.

VINCENNES, Ind., May 25.—During the past month a revival convention in progress at the Baptist Church, in this city. The evangelists have been preaching the doctrine of "sanctification," and some excitement has been worked up. Fashion has been condemned in the strongest terms. An enthusiastic named J. P. Flower, has made himself particularly ridiculous. Last night he prayed for God to "rain fire and brimstone down into the congregation and burn the sinners." The prayer was answered, and the "sinners" prayed from their seats. On the previous night he prayed: "Send a cyclone through this land and sweep away this sinful city."

THE ILLNESS OF SHERIDAN

The Chief of the Army Is in a Critical Condition and May Die at Any Time.

His Mother and Other Relatives Summoned to His Bedside and His Will Prepared, but the General Himself Is Very Hopeful.

His Ailment Is Valvular Disease of the Heart, and Life Hangs by a Thread.

Senator Paddeck's Public Building Measure Grows in Popularity as Its Merits Become Known—General Washington News.

GEN. SHERIDAN.

He Is Very Ill, and Indications Are That He May Die at Any Time.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Gen. Sheridan's condition to-night indicates that death may occur at any time. He may live some time, and, indeed, may recover, but his life to-night is in the balance and there is but a shadow of a chance for him. This morning a telegram was sent to his mother, at Somerset, O., and other members of his family, summoning them to the General's bedside. His will was hastily prepared and presented to him, with the statement that there were very few chances of his recovery. The priest calls upon him twice a day. This evening there was a consultation between six physicians, who have examined him, and they expressed very little hope. The valves of his heart have failed to close with his pulse beats, and the circulation of his blood has instantly ceased at times. It is untrue that he has apoplexy, and that he is liable to die from a stroke of paralysis. The General declines day and night in an easy chair. Col. Mike Sheridan, his brother, is constantly by his side, and is assisted by Colonel Kellogg and Colonel Blunt, the General's aids. The reason assigned for the refusal of the family to make public known his condition is that the General is very much averse to having his sickness discussed in the press. Five of the physicians attending him are of the regular army corps of surgeons. Dr. O'Reilly, the President's physician, has charge of the case. Surgeon-general Moore calls twice a day, and Drs. Yarrow, Matthews and Byrne act as nurses. This afternoon there was a rally of the General's strength, and his barber was sent for to shave him. As he was leaving, the General told him to come back to-morrow and Sunday at the same hour, adding: "I will see you at the club on Monday."

"I hope so," replied the barber, but the doctors present looked meaningfully at each other. The General sleeps considerably, and occasionally gets up and walks about a little, "to get the wrinkles out of his legs," as he puts it. He will not confess that he is seriously ill. "If the General should pull through he will never physically be a strong man."

A consultation of physicians was held to-night. At its conclusion the following statement, which is concurred in by all the physicians, was given to the press:

"At 8:30 P. M. a consultation was held by Drs. Matthews, Yarrow and O'Reilly. The patient sitting up; his voice was strong, and he was bright, cheerful and hopeful. Oedema of legs diminished; pulse, 110 (normal pulse-rate about 100); firm and regular. Heart sounds clear. Respiration, 30, and regular. Has no nausea, and has taken sufficient nourishment; tongue clear; condition in general improved since morning."

"R. M. O'REILLY, M. D., Surg. U. S. A., "Attending Surgeon."

The house is closed, and no further information in regard to the patient will be given until to-morrow morning.

At 11 o'clock Dr. Yarrow said to a reporter: "I felt quite uneasy this morning about Gen. Sheridan, but when I saw him in the afternoon I noticed a change for the better. He was additionally improved to-night when I left him. He is cheerful, walks up and down his room, and I feel assured that the danger point has passed."

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

The Bill Introduced by Senator Paddeck Continues to Grow in Popularity.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The consideration of Senator Paddeck's bill providing postoffice buildings for the small cities has stirred up a good deal of interest, not only in the Senate, but in the House, on the subject. The author has been in the House, and given the pulse of the lower branch of Congress, and gives it as his best judgment that it will become a law. He says that he does not see how any Representative in Congress can refuse to support the measure, because there is not a single congressman in the district that will not get some buildings by it, and that votes against the proposition will be votes against local interests. The expenditures for the buildings will run from $15,000 upward, and some of the congressional districts will get eight or ten buildings, worth $400,000 or $500,000. This means the expenditure of that much money for labor and materials, and the bill will only cost the country $100,000,000. The bill has been introduced in the House, and has been given a hearing. President Cleveland's peculiar and high standard of requisites of cities to enable them to be entitled to a federal building has been a great obstacle to the passage of the bill.
